What We May Expect For the Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.
White star—Fair;
Blue—Rain or snow;

JOHN BARLEYCORN.
Oh, Barleycorn, John Barleycorn,
I think 'tis time to quit;
A hundred times since I was born,
You've made me hit the brim!
I planned the cash, you had the fun,
Oh, dear old fellow, don't you quit!
Oh, Barleycorn, John Barleycorn,
I've heard the night owl howl;
In deep and lonely depths forlorn,
The mournful howls you howl,
Where snakes and monsters cut forlorn,
And jack-o'-lanterns dance a reel!
Oh, Barleycorn, John Barleycorn,
You make a fellow poor,
Most picturesque while you adorn
With sunset tints his nose,
But while he mourns for his last time
You keep in spirits all the time!
Oh, Barleycorn, John Barleycorn,
You promise joy and bliss,
But your delights are in a horn
And mostly go amiss;
Of all deceivers you stand first,
The blackest, blindest and the worst!
Oh, Barleycorn, John Barleycorn,
The matter I've resolved,
I declare, this blessed morn,
Our partnership dissolved;
You are a fraud, I've proved it so,
And that is all I want to know.

The meeting will be continued by the Pastor, assisted by Professor Fogg. The services will be held today at the usual hours, 3 and 6:45 p. m. There will also be a Workers' Conference at 6:30.

Kentucky G. A. R.

The railroads have made a special rate for the G. A. R. State Encampment at Bowling Green next month. But one fare for the round trip will be charged. The Encampment will be held April 11th and 12th. It is now almost definitely settled that Kentucky will get the National Encampment in 1895, nearly half of the states having already voted for the meeting to be held in Louisville. This will be a mistake and for making it we are, oh, so sad! We shall have tears of regret for making it, and correct it with the same pleasure we would sit down to a bacon and egg breakfast with a large pitcher of ice water after a night "with the boys."

All those in authority were not consulted. In fact, no one in authority was consulted. "The Tramp" called upon Henry Wadsworth, who holds the position of Clerk of the Police Court, and asked information, and he refused to divulge the secret for such it seemed.

He not only refused to tell "The Tramp" the amount of the fine imposed, but talked about keeping him out of the Courtroom, and "holding him up" against him until "after put him out."

Henry made all kinds of threats, and when they were carried out, in connection with others made yesterday afternoon, "The Tramp," even as a corpse, could not, and will not, be recognized by his Circle friends. Excuse these tears. Even the thought of the punishment is terrible.

But now here comes some news for our readers: Henry Wadsworth is not in authority at the City Police Court. In fact, he has nothing to do with it at all. He is only a "private clerk" to Judge Wadsworth, and has no right to tell what is done in Court.

Neither Judge Wadsworth nor Chief of Police Ott refused to give "The Tramp" the information sought. Neither of them was at the Court at the time, and could not be found near it.

This correction we gladly make. But this does not seem to be the great objection of Chief Ott. He wants only the cases that he thinks proper to go in print.

With all due respect for Mr. Ott and his position, we say that THE LEADER is published to give the news, and whether a man has 10 cents or $10 he will be written up. We play no favorites.

If any citizen of Maysville, friend of Justice, Chief or anybody else, is brought into the Police Court and faced THE LEADER, feels it its duty to tell the readers of such, and those gentlemen, as public officers, have no right to suppress the item. The more prominent the prisoner, the more interesting the item. See!

Judge Wadsworth seemed to entertain the idea that he could suppress any part of his work with the city he sees fit. He cannot. He is an officer of the people, and what he does in such capacity the people want to know, and if THE LEADER will help proclaim his actions, they shall be known to those interested.

THE LEADER wants the facts, and that is all, and no part of the work in the Police Court can be suppressed by Judge Wadsworth or anybody else.

This paper is published daily to please 1,500 readers, and no individual person or persons.

Any arrests made will be published, and any names of the officers making it will also be published if it can be secured. Now is the time to subscribe.

ANSWER TO A QUESTION.

S. A. DOUGLAS and J. C. BRECKINRIDGE Nominators at Baltimore.

That branch of the United States Senate which holds its sessions in the Fifth Ward has been for some days agitated by a discussion as to when and how and where Stephen A. Douglas was nominated by the Democrats for President in 1860.

THE LEADER has been appealed to, and, as THE LEADER is always at the service of its friends, it will briefly summarize the events that led to the nomination of Mr. Douglas.

In the first place, Buchanan's Administration, then in power, was hostile to Douglas, even as far back as his memorable canvass with Abraham Lincoln in Illinois, although Buchanan owed his own nomination to Douglas!

Mr. Douglas has been voted for in the Democratic National Conventions of 1853-55, in the latter of which, held at Cincinnati, he received on the sixteenth ballot 123 votes, but being opposed to the two-third rule, he withdrew in favor of Buchanan, who had received a majority, thus securing the latter's nomination.

At the Charleston Convention in 1860 on the first ballot he got 145 votes out of 253 cast.

On the twenty-third ballot he got 1529 votes, which was not only a large majority of votes cast, but was also a large majority of those entitled to representation.

It will be remembered that the Charleston Convention, after a prolonged session, adjourned to Baltimore.

When it reassembled in that city, Mr. Douglas received on the first ballot 1739 votes out of 1904 cast.

On the second ballot he got 1941 out of 1941 votes, and his nomination was thus made unanimous.

The delegates who opposed Douglas "seceded"—it was quite popular to "secede" in those days—and held in Baltimore a side-show convention, nominating for President John C. Breckinridge, who was then Vice-President of Buchanan's Administration.

In the election Mr. Douglas received only 19 electoral votes, though his popular vote was 1,975,167.

He died in Chicago June 9, 1861.

Dr. H. M. Marsh has returned to Danville.

Miss K. Stanley Niland is in Cincinnati this week.

Miss Mayne Moss is on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Dr. James Shackelford.

John D. Bridges has returned to Portsmouth after a visit to his mother, Mrs. A. M. Bridges.

E. A. Robinson has gone to West Virginia to quell the rioting miners with his good cigars.

Hi, Ho, Ho, Dr. Marsh!

The Ripley Washboard Factory is booming. We understand one hundred dozen washboards are sent out every day and they are in great demand, too—Ripley Ho.

Surely, you must be mistaken, Brother Newcomb. The coat of the Tuxedo declares that the wheels of industry are stopping and that the country is going to ruin—Ripley Ho.

This is easily accounted for, Brother: the men being idle, the women are compelled to take to the wash—Ripley Ho.

"WEEP NOT."

"My Son, For You Yet Shall Live and Prosper."

Again "The Tramp" has got himself into an embarrassing predicament(?) and this time with the police authorities of the city.

A local appeared in yesterday's LEADER, stating that "those in authority" refused to tell the fine of a prisoner in Tuesday afternoon's Police Court.

This was a mistake, and for making it we are, oh, so sad! We shall have tears of regret for making it, and correct it with the same pleasure we would sit down to a bacon and egg breakfast with a large pitcher of ice water after a night "with the boys."

All those in authority were not consulted. In fact, no one in authority was consulted. "The Tramp" called upon Henry Wadsworth, who holds the position of Clerk of the Police Court, and asked information, and he refused to divulge the secret for such it seemed.

He not only refused to tell "The Tramp" the amount of the fine imposed, but talked about keeping him out of the Courtroom, and "holding him up" against him until "after put him out."

Henry made all kinds of threats, and when they were carried out, in connection with others made yesterday afternoon, "The Tramp," even as a corpse, could not, and will not, be recognized by his Circle friends. Excuse these tears. Even the thought of the punishment is terrible.

But now here comes some news for our readers: Henry Wadsworth is not in authority at the City Police Court. In fact, he has nothing to do with it at all. He is only a "private clerk" to Judge Wadsworth, and has no right to tell what is done in Court.

The Phoenix.

"The Phoenix" was revived in the presence of a bumper house at the People's Palace on Sunday night. It is a wonder that he has not revived it before, for none of the plays which he has added to his repertoire has suited him half as well as the old drama which, to the glory of the old, he has revived. It is a clever and a good comedy.

This great show will be in Maysville next Saturday evening. Sale of seats opened this morning at Nelson's.

SIXTEEN MINISTERS.

Upheld the Organization of the A. P. A. at Memphis, Tenn.

The Protestant Ministers of Memphis, exclusive of the Episcopalian, have issued an open letter advocating the principles of the American Protective Association, and deprecating the attacks made on that organization by the secular press in the last few months.

The signers of the epistle are sixteen in number, and compose the Protestant Pastors' Association.

They deny any purpose to criticize the spiritual faith or belief of the Catholic Church, and attack it solely on the ground that the Pope and his hierarchy are endeavoring to control the temporal governments of the earth, and make them subservient to the spiritual or church Government.

They charge further that the oath of the Minister of the Papal Church is inconsistent with the oath of allegiance required to citizens of all naturalized citizens of the United States, and to be in opposition to the Federal Constitution.

Statistics are cited to show that the increase of Catholics in this country is comparatively much greater than that of Protestants, and the letter concludes with an appeal to all citizens who desire to prevent the Catholic control of all educational institutions supported by the Government to vote against the election of Catholics to positions of power and influence, and for the election of persons who will resist Catholic influences.

The Catholics of Memphis are a rich, numerous and influential body, and a great power in politics.

If it comes to a fight between them and the Protestant Pastors' Association, there may be important changes in the political complexion of the entire state.

SCARING AN ENGLISHMAN.

How a Bad Man From Bitter Creek Was Handcuffed Down To It.

Detroit Free Press.—There was a very green Englishman at Butte City, Mont., who was talking about purchasing land near by for a horse ranch, and as he strolled around the depot the half dozen drummers who happened to meet there put up a job on him. One of them borrowed a coat and hat of a rancher, took the cartridges out of his revolver, and with the weapon held aloft in his hand he suddenly jumped into the waiting room and yelled:

"Whoop! I'm a cankerous old fighter from the headquarters of Fighting Creek! I'm half-horse and half-alligator! I'm down on everything that walks on two legs, particularly Englishmen who call me 'blooming' Briton who called me a liar!"

"What's the row about?" inquired the Englishman, as he came to a halt and faced about.

"Whoop! I've fit in three wars and kept a graveyard of my own the rest of the time," shouted the terror, as he danced around. "Down on my narrow bones and beg my pardon if you want to live two minutes longer."

"Not if I know it!" drawled the Briton, cool as ice, and he squared off and landed a thumper on the drummer's nose, which piled him over among the stacks of specks and dazed him so that he couldn't speak for the next five minutes. We had to hold the "foreigner" to keep him from following up, and when the drummer had been sponged off and brought to his feet down on a baggage truck and held his nose and reflected for a long time. Then he remarked:

"When you fellows get through being tickled perhaps you can explain at ten cents a game of the game the belt run off."

LABORS HEAVY LOSSES.

Some Startling Figures Presented By Michigan Factory Inspectors.

The Michigan Labor Bureau has made a thorough comparative canvass of the present condition of labor now and one year ago.

This canvass shows some startling figures. During the period between September 1st and February 1st a total of 2,066 factories in all parts of the state were inspected and canvassed for information regarding employment.

Of these, 377, comprising some of the largest and most important, were idle altogether.

Of those reported in operation, 1,117 were running full time and 573 on short time.

In those running on short time there is shown a loss of labor of 82,927 hours per week.

The number of men laid off now is 48,725.

This is more than 43 per cent. of the whole number reported as employed.

There has been an average reduction of wages in factories visited of 9.5 per cent.

During the five months from September to February there has been a loss to labor in the 2,066 factories inspected of 1,761,000 working days of ten hours each.

Another Installment of Hawaiian Correspondence.

The Minister Tells of the Dolongs of the Chinese in Hawaii.

In Mass Meeting They Pass Resolutions—They Claim That They Pay More Taxes Than Any Other Chinese in Hawaii—They Want Their Taxes Reduced.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The president sent to congress the following further installment of Hawaiian correspondence, accompanied by a brief message of transmittal. The correspondence includes a letter from Minister Willis, dated February 10, acknowledging communications from the state department, and two others, dated February 14 and 15 respectively.

The dispatch of February 14 gives a history of the events in the island, as already covered in the previous dispatches via San Francisco, and states that while the past month has been unusually quiet, the "action of congress in the Hawaiian question, as indicating the future policy of the United States toward this country."

Under date of February 18, Mr. Willis reports the adoption of the joint committee's report recommending that there be chosen delegates to sit with the consuls and prepare a constitution for a permanent government, and mentions the appointment of a committee by the president to prepare an act for the holding of a constitutional convention, and the election of Mr. Hattis as minister of foreign affairs, as stated in press dispatches.

He says the mass meeting of the Chinese held the previous night was very largely attended, about 3,000 persons being present, and vigorous resolutions were passed. He enclosed press clippings of the proceedings, which mention that the tenor of the meeting was such that the use of a man-of-war was so much hindered.

Statements were made that the Chinese paid more taxes than any other class, and that but for their Honolulu trade would "die." The committee adopted set forth that there is an act pending before the legislature of the provisional government obliging Chinese residents to obtain a special license as a prerequisite to conducting business in that country.

The protest against this threatened "unjust, degradation and insult" and respectfully asked the right "under the principles of enlightened justice and the provisions of the Hawaiian constitution to dwell in Hawaii and be accorded the protection of the law, upon terms of equality with those of other nationalities and other classes."

The protest is in the hands of the Hawaiian constitution to dwell in Hawaii and be accorded the protection of the law, upon terms of equality with those of other nationalities and other classes.

ARMOR PLATE RECORD.

How and Where the Fast Irons Have Been Expended.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—In connection with the disclosures as to defective armor plates furnished by the Carnegie company, Chairman Cummings, of the house naval committee, has been called from the bureau of ordinance of the navy department showing where armor plates have come from and on what war vessel they were used.

The department had an unexpected balance of $10,000,000 in February, 1905, which permitted extensive purchase of armor plate. The balance has since been reduced to $2,438,584. The contracts with the Carnegie Steel Co. were for 8,978 tons at the aggregate cost of $8,146,228. The Carnegie Steel Co. delivered 10,057 tons at the cost of $8,569,717. The total of steel plate thus far furnished is 8,978 tons at $8,146,228. The amount still to be furnished is 10,057 tons at $8,569,717. The expense thus far has been increased about $300,000 by premiums, shipping and the introduction of nickel previous to settlement of rate.

Of the armor yet to be furnished the Carnegie Steel Co. will furnish 4,959 tons at $4,365,214. The Bethlehem Steel Co. will furnish 5,100 tons at $4,204,503. It is estimated that the whole of this will be delivered by July 1, 1905. The Carnegie Co. has already finished 6,000 tons and the Bethlehem Co. 1,073 tons.

There have been 3,388 tons of armor for the last sixteen months, or 396 tons less than the 3,784 tons of armor which reports that the new presses which are being erected at the armor works of the Carnegie Steel Co. will be in operation in the summer of 1905. The monthly output will be greatly increased.

Democrate Senators Take a Remarkable Turn Regarding It.

They Are Willing Now For It to Be Discussed Indefinitely.

The Reason For the Change is That the Tariff Bill Not and Will Not Be Ready For Some Days—Senator Sherman's Opinion of It.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The democrats in the senate Wednesday morning took a remarkable turn in regard to the tariff bill. Tuesday morning they fought the proposition to take it up to the exclusion of the tariff bill, but Wednesday Senator Harris threw out the proposition and the democrats peculiar speech announced that the democrats had withdrawn their opposition and would allow the bill to be discussed indefinitely. Mr. Harris explained his change by saying that as the tariff bill was not ready and would not be ready for some days, it was presented to the senate it would lie on the table several days to allow the senators to study it, therefore he thought the senate could not better wait its time to discuss it.

There, however, rose an unexpected opposition to the immediate consideration of the bill on the republican side, for when Senator Harris moved that the bill be read a second time and taken up for consideration, Senator Sherman would object to the bill as he wished to make a motion to refer the bill to the committee on finance and caused some surprise, for all thought Mr. Harris had all right to use his position as a tracker for the tariff bill. Senator Sherman at once explained his objections to the bill and said that such an important bill should be referred to a committee and he wanted it done.

This bill proposed to issue $55,000,000 of notes, money already pledged by other means. It proposed to use the current expenses with this pledged money. He thought this a great revolutionary proceeding. This paper money would be issued by the government with paper money forced into circulation? He thought this a great revolutionary proceeding. This paper money would be issued by the government with paper money forced into circulation?

Mr. Sherman proceeded in the same strain and when he finished Senator Cockerill, of Missouri, tried to trap the Ohio senator into acknowledging that the bill would be a bad thing. The bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman bill was passed. The attempt failed, however, but there was a tie in the senate between the democrats and the republicans.

A question as to the right of the senate to decide the motion for reference was decided by the vice president as a tie between the democrats and the republicans. The amendment was also debated. This was accepted by the republicans with pleasure because they intend to amend the bill and amend it and thus keep the bill before the senate indefinitely to the exclusion of the tariff bill.

ALL QUIET.

It Is Believed That the Work is Over at Eagle, W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 8.—All was quiet at the seat of war Wednesday morning. Capt. Wyatt and the two men who were arrested with him have returned to Eagle under bond. Arrests are being made hourly. The Fayette county jail is full and it is thought that the surplus will be brought here. Nearly all the ringleaders of the riot have been apprehended. Their names were furnished to the authorities by the Fayette county jail. It is believed that a miner, learned all their secrets and names of the strikers.

The boy Jackson who revealed the dynamite plot is now at Eagle under special protection. Chicago Cable That Will Prevent Future Trouble From Chicago.

CHICAGO, Wyo., March 8.—A public test of the hydraulic press cells, prepared by P. E. Baughman, of this city, was made Wednesday. Should there be a leak in the pipes the water would escape and the cells would at once be indicated by an electric alarm in the warden's office. The locks on the doors are also operated by electric power. A number of prominent prison officials in the east have examined the plan of Mr. Baughman's cells, and pronounce it a wonderful invention. The electric on the cells would be impossible for a prisoner to saw off a bolt or bar without causing a leak and sounding the alarm.
